Have you ever started crying for no reason, or do you cry when things don't go well? What do you do to stop crying or do you?Geraldine the Giraffe is here to give us some lessons in crying.

Geraldine lives in a Safari in Kenya. Geraldine the Giraffe is a lovely giraffe, a long neck and swift legs, but she cries over every little thing. She cries when she sees the tiger, she cries when she loses, anything. Jeffrey, her best friend asks her why she cries so much, and Geraldine doesn't seem to know. One day she looked way down at the puddles her tears were creating and saw her good friend, Croakette, the Toad. Croakette had some good advice for her, and as you read this book, you will begin to understand how to stop your crying.Anat Umansky, the author, has once again delivered a most wonderful book for children. It is written in rhyme at times, and is straightforward . The illustrations by Alin Mot are the most beautiful colors, muted and vivid at the same time. They depict the animals in the Safari so well. The lessons learned by Geraldine are ones we carry with us everyday. Both children and parents will have a good time discussing the adventures of Geraldine and her friends. Note: I was given this book to read and review.Recommended. prisrob 01-17-14

I absolutely enjoyed reading this book to my grand kids and it brought a few smiles to our faces. It seems to me that this book has been created with a lot of love and joy and it is very obvious to me that the author really enjoys creating such wonderful stories. I loved the effort the author put into writing this. The story and the illustrations are wonderfully done. I would absolutely recommend it! It's a wonderful read for the young...and the young at heart!

WHY THE GIRAFFE IS CRYING? is a children's book about a giraffe named Geraldine. Geraldine lives in the safari in Kenya. Geraldine is a beautiful giraffe with several friends. However, Geraldine has a problem. When she starts crying, she just can't stop and she often is made fun because of her crying. There are all kinds of reasons why Geraldine starts crying: she cries when she sees a tiger, when she loses a race, when she's not able to play with a toy she wants from a friend. She cries so much a big puddle forms at her feet and that's when her best friend appears: a toad named Croakette that sings a song and gets Geraldine to stop crying and start smiling and laughing instead. The story never really answers the question of why the giraffe is crying. In fact, there really isn't much of a story at all to WHY THE GIRAFFE IS CRYING? However, it does provide children an illustration that might help them when they are overcome with tearful emotions they are unable to stop.

I suppose many people have some friend or relative who cries a lot, sometimes over the least little things. That was Geraldine Giraffe's problem. Fortunately her friend Croakette the toad was wise enough to calm her down by making her laugh. In doing so, Croakette taught his long-necked friend some valuable lessons about dealing with disappointment, having patience, and enjoying life. It's a cute story for kids, with Croakette's rhyming advice to Geraldine, and the color illustrations that youngsters will enjoy.

Geraldine the Giraffe cries over everything. She reminded me of a two year old throwing tantrums when someone says something she doesn't like, or when she doesn't get her way. Usually she looks into her puddle of tears and sees Croakette the toad who tells her such funny things that she can't help but laugh. This is a book you must read to find out if Geraldine will ever stop crying.

I read "Why the Giraffe is Crying?" to my twin grand children, and they loved the crying giraffe, Geraldine. After reading them the book I asked them the big question "Why was the giraffe crying, and is she still crying?" They loved this little book, and I did too. Thus, I give this book five stars!

My nine year old granddaughter enjoyed this book. She was enchanted. I thought it was well written and was a sweet story.

The story it's long enough to make my kids sleep but not long to make them get bored also funny and Interesting
