Insights of a world renowned psychiatrist to aid priests, religious and laypersons.

This book is a compilation by Dr. Conrad Baars' daughter and her colleague in their counseling offices. It includes pamphlets and journal articles that are no longer in print and some articles that have never been published before. Dr. Baars is a Dutch American psychiatrist. During WWII he was imprisoned in Buchenwald Concentration Camp for his work with the French underground. After the war he finished his psychiatric training and was able to immigrate to the US. Along with his colleague, Anna Terruwe, Ph.D., MD, he has served as a consultant to the Vatican on problems in the priesthood. Some of these articles in this book are based on his consultant reports to the National Conference of Catholic Bishops. Dr. Baars also gave many conferences to religious on psychology and the spiritual life. It is wonderful to see these pamphlets and articles back in print and to have them in one very helpful and hopeful book.

I purchased this book in January of 2013 for $17. Why the price jump? I did not really read the book, but just wanted to post this review as it seems to be artificially inflated in price. You can probably find it much cheaper elsewhere.
