Crafting With Cat Hair: Cute Handicrafts To Make With Your Cat

Synopsis

Got fur balls? Are your favorite sweaters covered with cat hair? Do you love to make quirky and one-of-a-kind crafting projects? If so, then it's time to throw away your lint roller and curl up with your kitty! Crafting with Cat Hair shows readers how to transform stray clumps of fur into soft and adorable handicrafts. From kitty tote bags and finger puppets to fluffy cat toys, picture frames, and more, these projects are cat-friendly, eco-friendly, and require no special equipment or training. You can make most of these projects in under an hour—with a little help, of course, from your feline friends!

"Personal projects that celebrate your cat and they look as cute as can be!â •â "Neatorama"â •â "Put those furballs to work for YOU!"â •â "Suvudu"â •â "TM's bizarre, to be sure, but the appliques are kind of cute, too. This is a good one for your cat-loving crafty friends (and you know you have them).â •â "Austin American Statesman

Born in Tokyo, Kaori Tsutaya is a cat lover and freelance writer whose writings have been published in magazines and special-interest books. Many of her published works are based on the subject of cats and include articles, photography, and books on crafting. Her blogs •â "The Laws of the Cat" •â (nekono-okite.cocolog-nifty.com) and •â "The Cat Hair Craft Room" •â (neko.ke.com) are popular in Japan.â Amy Hirschman is a translator, crafter, and pop-culture enthusiast living in California. She studied Japanese for four years at the University of Pittsburgh and has lived in Japan. Though she is not a cat owner, her friends will attest that she is the greatest cat sitter they have ever had. This is her first published translation.

I purchased this book as I was tired of people sitting too near me on public transport.

With the help of tis book, my wife has made all of the Christmas gifts for our friends and family. She has made 4 pairs of socks, 2 scarves, 3 hats, a toaster cozy, slippers, a winter jacket and carpeted the family room. I highly recommend tis book to anyone who, like my wife, has 14 shedding cats in their house.

I have 3 cats and have already saved fur, whiskers, and nails from them and from my unfortunately passed fur baby and this book is great at giving me a sentimental keepsake of all of them.

It really only teaches you how to felt cat hair and make finger puppets or little fingers out of it. However, if you do, they're really cute. I made one for my friend for his birthday out of his own cat's hair. I did a little extra embroidery on mine to give it more defined claws, eyes, and face.

When I first saw this book, I thought it was a gag but was curious so I ordered it. I was completely and pleasantly surprised. I save my various animals fur when I brush them but have just ziplocked them and set aside as a memento when the sad day comes that you lose them. I've now got some amazing ideas on how to display the hair with love and affection. So amazing. Also so wonderful that the authors' are very clear about their message of keeping the cat's best interest and well-being as the first priority. Wonderfully done

I had been wondering if there was anything I could do with those mats of cat hair on the brushes besides trying to get the birds interested in them to use for nest liner. I'm collecting some kitty fun now and will try out a few things when I get enough.

Can't wait to collect enough cat hair to try these projects!

I have purchased this book as a joke for two of my cat-loving friends. Although it was intended as a joke, after looking through the book, it is surprising at how detailed it is and how seriously the author takes the subject. I would never use these ideas (using cat hair to make crafts just grosses me out a bit), BUT if I were to ever do such a thing, this would definitely be a great resource!
